The underfoot surfaces of exterior balconies and walkways have traditionally been concrete or asphalt. There are many problems associated with these surfaces, especially when used in blocks of flats. Noise reverberates to the floors above and below and the surface can become slippery and dangerous when wet. Altro Mondo Promenade now provides a solution to the problems posed by traditional materials. The attractively textured synthetic rubber flooring offers many advantages when used on balconies and walkways. These include ultra-violet light stability, noise reduction and comfort underfoot.
