Overview

The Cycle-Works folding bike locker is the only locker on the market that is able to hold most available folding bikes, not just the smaller Bromptons. Even with a larger folding bike in the locker, there is still room for a helmet, kit and bag.

The locker is not only versatile but extremely strong, using a monocoque technique that is more widely found in aircraft and automotive construction. The outstanding British design and construction doesn't stop there, as the locker features a revolutionary design that means it can be locked with either a D-lock, cable lock or padlock and still be accessed by the master override key.
