The Challenge

A practical hard landscaping solution with aesthetic qualities that would complement Red Burn Farm.

Ogilvie Construction sought a practical hardlandscaping solution with aesthetic qualities that would complement Red Burn Farm, a new country-themed restaurant/pub in Hamilton. Red Burn Farm is a branch of the UK’s popular Farmhouse Inn restaurant and bar chain.

Lauren Kidd, Senior Buyer at Ogilvie Construction explained what the client wanted to achieve from the external works: “The concept design for the landscape was to complement the new building while enabling the site to sit harmoniously within the larger master plan.”

The Solution

Having worked with Tobermore previously, Lauren met with Tobermore’s Scottish Sales team to discuss paving options and she was extremely impressed with what the team had to offer.

Tobermore’s Textured Flags in the colour of Buff was selected for the outdoor eating area and Tactile Flags, also in Buff, were combined with Tegula block paving in the rich tones of Heather for the pedestrian route connecting the restaurant to the carpark.

Tobermore’s Hydropave Pedesta in Natural and Brindle was used to create the carpark area.
