

Versio Corpus 100 Bench

From our extensive and immensely popular Versio range, this bench combines both style and substance. The Versio Corpus 100 Bench perfectly combines timber and steel in a simple, practical way. The result is a stylish modern-looking product that really lifts an outdoor space to the next level.

Flexibility of design and choice comes from the three different timber slat configurations with timbers available in either hardwood or softwood and in 3 slat sizes, and the end panels available in either steel, concrete, or graphite concrete finish: So, it's a bench that can be adapted to suit your needs.
