

Public Outdoor Creations

Public Outdoor Creations

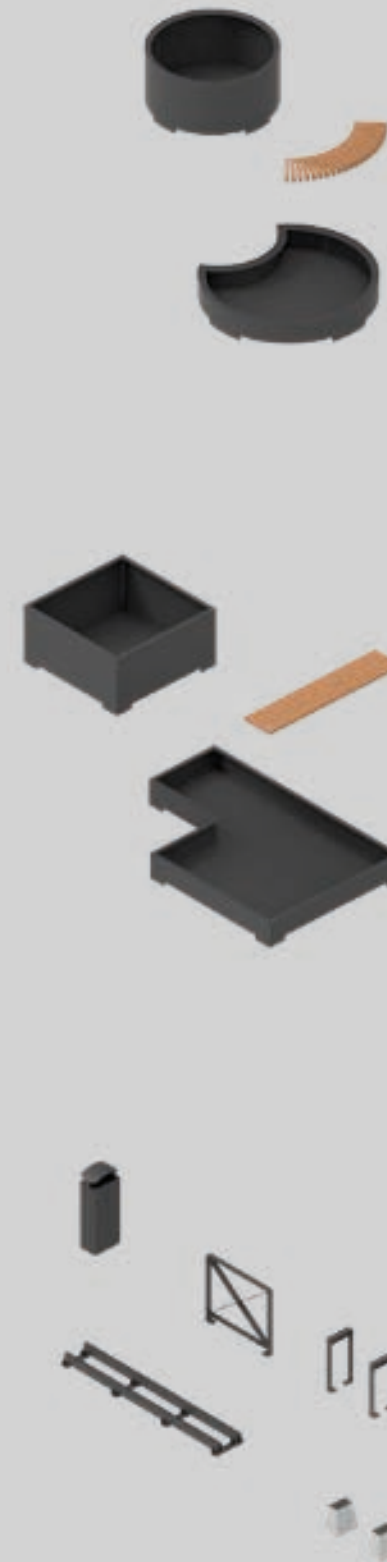

Public Outdoor Creations develops and produces high-end design elements for the public space. The elements are made of metal, wood or concrete and have a modular structure. Our products can be composed and combined at will, providing almost infinite possibilities for furnishing the public space.

Our three collections stand out as a result of their superior quality and finish. We are also happy to modify our standard products or to develop custom projects. If desired, we can install the products entirely under our own management and also take care of the planting for you. Our organisation is efficient and cost-effective. The products are crafted at our production site in the Netherlands by a permanent team consisting of professionals with many years of experience and expertise.

In this brochure, we present our three collections that together form the Public Outdoor Creations collection. The Straight and Curved collections are modular and offer a touch of greenery. The City2Connect collection can be used in a flexible manner and is more functional in nature. All three collections share the same design DNA and functionality, making them mutually combinable.

We look forward to working with you to design and create high-quality, sustainable outdoor spaces. Our team is ready to help!

Concept

The Modular Collection

The three Public Outdoor Creations collections are modular and can be combined with each other. As the name suggests, the Straight collection offers square and rectangular shapes, while the Curved Collection features rounded shapes. Both collections offer scope for added greenery. The City2Connect collection consists of high-end, timeless and functional design elements that lend themselves to flexible configuration. A special system with a metal strip that is installed in the pavement makes it possible to use our products in a Plug & Play manner. The various products in the three collections offered by Public Outdoor Creations can be composed and combined at will, creating infinite design possibilities in the public space.

Studio POC

Studio POC is a multidisciplinary in-house design agency that provides design and consulting services. Public Outdoor Creations is the perfect partner for custom projects. We can translate your idea into a solution in just a few steps, designing a special product or developing a design proposal. As the design team works in close collaboration with production, cost estimates can be provided quickly, and your designs can be expertly translated into a product.

A landscape architect's perspective

We all want it, whether at home, in the city or at work. We want to be surrounded by greenery, to cover the city with a green blanket, as it were. We want to create a pleasant and relaxed climate for flora, fauna and ourselves.

Public Outdoor Creations uses Root Care planters to create optimal growing conditions for trees and plants. This innovative system provides flora with the right amount of water and prevents root warming. The high-end, sustainable planters for trees and plants can also collect excess rainwater and combat heat stress, helping to make urban areas more climate adaptive. By means of ongoing research and optimisation of the Root Care planters, the company aims to install many different 'mini biotopes' in the future and thus contribute to a greener city. Why not join us?

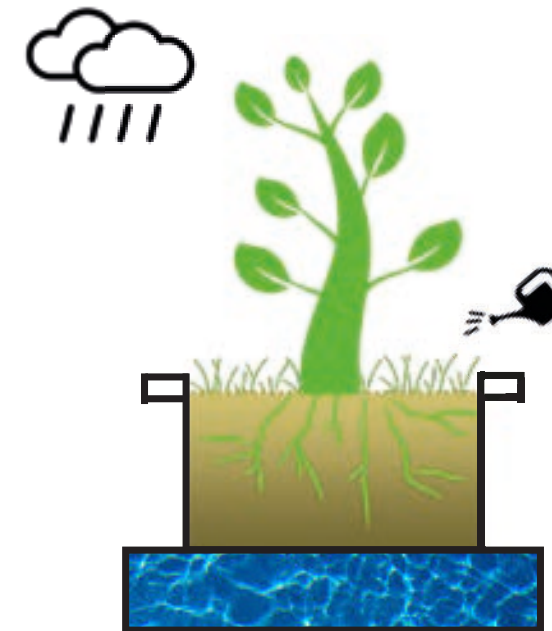

Public Outdoor Creations offers a varied and subtle range of flexible design elements for a lush green palette. Trees and plants play the leading role. Various sizes and combinations of mobile greenery are possible. These include tall tree containers, vertical greenery, greenery as a gateway and low planters for mini gardens. There are also numerous seating options that allow people to relax and connect.

Just like orangeries used to provide parks with pots of tropical greenery in warm weather, Public Outdoor Creations offers a wide range of mobile greenery solutions to help transform our outdoor space and living environment into a green oasis.

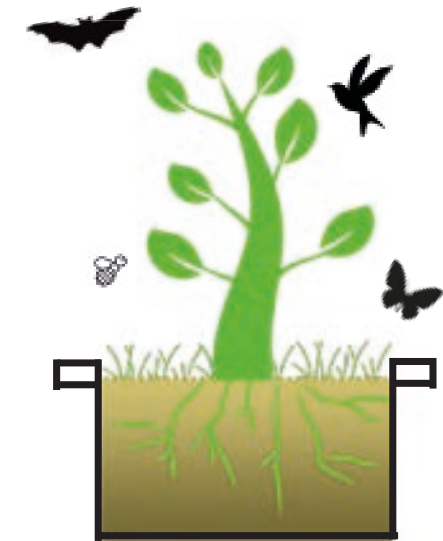

Together, we developed the Mighty Planter, a new multifunctional tree planter with an innovative and optimal system for climate adaptation, biodiversity and social interaction.

Are you also taking part in the greening of our city? Be inspired by the numerous possibilities offered by Public Outdoor Creations!
