CONSTRUCTIONLINE UK GOVERNMENT CERTIFICATION

"The common sense solution for both sides of the tender"

As a supplier, you'll know that jumping through the same vetting hoops every time you tender is not a brilliant use of time and resources. And for buyers, sifting through pre-qualification data and keeping it up to date adds up to a similarly wasteful job. Constructionline helps both sides of the deal bypass these problems, saving everyone time, money and hassle in the process.

PAS91 Compliant

The Publicly Available Specification for prequalification questionnaires in construction related procurement (mercifully shortened to PAS 91) was launched in October 2010, to provide construction clients, contractors, CDM coordinators and designers with a template for prequalification questionnaires.

Developed by the British Standards Institution with the Department for Business, Innovation and Skills (BIS), the PAS sets out questions not just on suppliers' health and safety competence but also quality management standards, environmental compliance and employment law practice.
