

THE HEATED TOWEL RAIL COMPANY

PRESS INFORMATION

Everlasting designs from Vogue (UK) Ltd

Designer radiator and heated towel rail manufacturer, Vogue (UK) Ltd, introduces the LG014 from the Traditional Collection.

Featuring an elegant and timeless style, the LG014 caters for those looking to add the finishing touches to a period bathroom. Boasting a design full of character, the LG014 cleverly combines two useful functions within one product. Providing a space for towels to dry on the exterior rail and a radiator to boost the warmth of the room, the usefulness of the LG014 equally matches its charm.

Ideal for coordinating to other bathroom fixtures, the mild steel radiator is available in any RAL colour. The LG014 as pictured above features a multi-columned radiator finished in black with a crisp, gleaming chrome towel rail. The LG014 measures 875mm high, 675mm wide, with a depth of 325mm, 31.8mm tube diameter and produces a heat output of 871watts/2971 Btu. It is available in central heating only, electric only or dual energy options. The LG014 retails from £1559 including VAT and includes a ten year guarantee.
